1. The entrance to the port of Vlone is guarded by a coastal battery at Kep i Gloses, armed with medium guns and searchlights.
2. The port itself has a mole 150-200 meters long by 10 meters wide with electricity but no water supply. It can accommodate ships of 1,000 tons with four meters draft, and is suitable for mooring submarines.
3. About 100 meters from the end of the mole is the sunken wreck of an Italian destroyer, which is marked by a buoy.
4. A railway line eight kilometers long leads from the mole to a salt mine.
